Cyclo Bicycle Stand

Cyclo combines two essential features of street furniture – it has an appealing design thanks to its rounded forms and is robust thanks to its concrete construction. It is thus a useful street element, able to resist the elements and vandalism. A main goal of the designers in developing the bicycle stand was to honor and support the cyclists, who make the cities and towns more livable with the simple gesture of their daily pedaling. With two versions, on drums for broad locations, or freestanding designed especially for small spaces, Cyclo covers all the needs that any municipality, private developer or private citizen can have when parking their bicycles.
